The completed practical work books for NLK and TFH bring you kinesiology hours that are accredited with the AKA and the Diploma of Kinesiology. Marking fees for the work book are not included in this price.

I am available to run courses in country centers for a minimum of 8 participants.

These Kinesiology workshops give you enough practical hours to become a registered practitioner with the Australian Kinesiology Association (AKA) and well on your way to having the practical requirements for the Diploma of Kinesiology.

To be registered with the AKA other requirements include also a current first aid certificate and to study 50 hours of Anatomy and Physiology. For more information see www.akakinesiology.com.au
